Etc	Tier 1, 2, or 3 Trait & General Trait

Your level denotes your overall experience and capability as a soldier. As you progress and conquer formidable challenges, at the discretion of the GM, you will level up. As you level up, you gain access to new and powerful Traits.

Every level up unlocks one Class Trait and one General Trait. Class Traits can either be a Primary or regular Class Trait. Each class is broken into 3 Tiers that must be ascended in order. Each Tier is defined by a Primary Trait and has a pool of Class Traits to choose from as you level.

If you are a novice soldier, you will start at level 0. For levels 0, 3, and 6 you gain a Primary Trait. Between these major upgrades, you can choose from a variety of regular Class Traits from the unlocked Tiers to further customize your character.

Skirmisher

“We had them pinned; they weren't able to raise as much as a finger without us blasting it. But then like a blur, someone dashed around us and we became outmaneuvered. Our firing position fell apart, it was a massacre. You can't outrun death, and you can't outrun the Skirmisher.”

The Skirmisher specializes in conducting hit-and-run tactics during a battle. Skirmishers are typically light infantry trained to engage the enemy in a flexible and evasive manner. Their primary goal is to disrupt the enemy's formation, gather intelligence, and harass the opponent's forces without becoming heavily engaged in a full-scale combat.

As a Skirmisher, you should typically be lightly armored and rely on your Reflex to be effective. Because of this, you should try to equip lighter weapons, such as pistols or submachine guns, however you can specialize with a shotgun or designated marksman rifle to fulfill a more niche Skirmisher role. Ultimately, you have a large amount of flexibility with your loadout and playstyle as long as you stay light on your feet.

Primary Trait Tier 1

Run & Gun

The Skirmisher keeps the enemy on their toes by never being where they expect

- Maximum of 3 charges that can be activated instantly lasting for an Action, recharging 2 per Rest
- When using Run & Gun, you can shoot a gun, make a Strike melee attack, or throw grenades/other small objects while making a Movement Action
- Apply a -2 To-Hit penalty (due to movement)
- Attacking and throwing can occur at any Space during movement

Limber

Through intense endurance training, you are able to carry more while maintaining top speed

- Gain the effect of Light-Footed at 15 Equipment Slots instead of 10

Scoot & Shoot

You always had a thing for pistols over more clunky guns as they allow you to stay light on your feet

- Do not consume charges of Run & Gun when shooting guns with a Heft Score of 0
- Does not apply to melee or throwing

Fancy Feet

Lightning movement allows you to bob and weave around your foes. You will not make for an easy target

- Once per Round, after an enemy declares an attack but before they roll, use a Run & Gun charge to subtract your Reflex score from their To-Hit roll including Extra Attacks

Ability Score Improvement

- You can allocate 2 new points to your ability scores if the final score(s) is no more than 4
- Alternatively, you can spend both points to raise a single score by 1 to a final value of 5 or above

Primary Trait Tier 2

Advanced Run & Gun

Honing your Skirmisher skills allows you push yourself further and keep a steady aim while moving

- Increase maximum to 5 charges, recharging 3 per Rest
- Ignore the movement penalty To-Hit at Short and below ranges

Speed Surge

Preparing the mind and body grants you an unparalleled burst of speed

- Spend a charge of Run & Gun to gain +1 Movement per Action on your Turn

Infiltrator

You move through obstacles like a feather in the wind

- Gain Advantage on non-Attacking Reflex Checks and Opposing Reaction rolls
- You can perform Reflex Checks that are not attacks while making a Movement Action

Stealthy Assassin

The only trace you leave is the remains of your targets

- Movement is no longer restricted to 3 Spaces when Creeping
- Once per Rest, after rolling a non-Attacking Reflex Check, you can choose to replace the roll with a 20 (pre-modifiers)
- When you make a Strike as a sneak attack, you deal maximum double damage

Ability Score Improvement

- You can allocate 2 new points to your ability scores if the final score(s) is no more than 4
- Alternatively, you can spend both points to raise a single score by 1 to a final value of 5 or above

Primary Trait Tier 3

Master Run & Gun

Your Skirmisher abilities are reaching their full potential, allowing you to constantly pressure the enemy

- Regain all charges with Rest
- Use the Run & Gun Trait once per Turn without consuming a charge

Hit and Run

Your order of kickass will be delivered in 30 minutes or it's free

- Once per Round, when an enemy is brought to 0 or less HP within Medium range and Line of Sight, take a free Movement Action

Quick Hands

One flick of the wrist and they're already dead

- After attacking a target, you can spend a charge of Run & Gun to attack another target that is within Close Range of your original target

Speed Demon

Run like the wind, being this light has never felt lighter

- If you have below 10 Equipment Slots, you gain an additional +1 Space per Movement Action

Ability Score Improvement

- You can allocate 2 new points to your ability scores if the final score(s) is no more than 4
- Alternatively, you can spend both points to raise a single score by 1 to a final value of 5 or above

Sharpshooter

“The air was still, only broken by my own labored breathing. My entire squad lay dead or dying around me. In a few horrific moments, I found myself trapped behind a short piece of rubble with the devil himself watching me. While my heart was still beating, I knew the Sharpshooter had already killed me.”

The Sharpshooter is an exceptionally skilled marksman possessing a high degree of precision and accuracy in shooting. Tasked with identifying and neutralizing high-priority targets on the battlefield, sharpshooters play a vital role in providing accurate long-range fire support.

As a Sharpshooter, you usually want to hone your Focus and tune your firearm selection to your desired effective range. The Sharpshooter usually falls into the classic sniper role, however you can also play it with a shorter-range weapon, still emphasizing lethal accuracy, such as a revolver slinging cowboy.

Primary Trait Tier 1

Target Vitals

As a Sharpshooter, you practice the art of precision, endowing you with deadly accuracy

- Maximum of 3 charges that can be activated instantly lasting for an Action, recharging 2 per Rest
- When using Target Vitals, you roll your attack's damage with Advantage when dealing Ballistic, Edged, or Blunt damage.
- Additionally, if your attack uses an Aiming Action, roll damage with Advantage without consuming a charge of Target Vitals

Precision Shot

Take your time, line it up just right, and... boom, headshot

- Increase maximum Aiming Action bonus by 3

Mark Targets

Your sharp mind allows you to keep track of and call out the precise movements and ranges of targets

- As an Action, you can mark up to three unique targets at a time within Line of Sight
 - You and your allies get +1 To-Hit against each marked target until they break Line of Sight
 - You may only have three unique targets marked at once

Dead Eye

In the heat of combat, you value quick accurate shots over the slow and methodical

- When making a Single Shot Attack with no Extra Attacks, roll damage with Advantage

Ability Score Improvement

- You can allocate 2 new points to your ability scores if the final score(s) is no more than 4
- Alternatively, you can spend both points to raise a single score by 1 to a final value of 5 or above

Primary Trait Tier 2

Advanced Target Vitals

Your deadly accuracy makes you even more lethal

- Increase maximum to 5 charges, recharging 3 per Rest
- When attacking with an Aiming Action, you can choose to use a charge of Target Vitals to roll double the damage dice instead of Advantage

Think Twice

Seeing movement, you send a bullet whizzing by their head

- Once per Round, if you can see an enemy starting a Movement Action, you can choose to shoot a single bullet to interrupt them
- The target must make a Grit Check (DC 10 + Your To-Hit bonus) and if failed
 - The Movement Action is canceled and they cannot move out of their location for the duration of their Turn
 - The “would be” Movement Action can be used for something else instead with a -2 on all Checks and Attacks

Sniper Nest

You can manipulate your environment to set up the perfect firing position

- When deploying a bipod/tripod or by using an Action, set up a Sniper's Nest in your current Square
 - Gain +1 To-Hit at Focus ranges
 - Your nest offers you concealment in addition to any existing cover
- When you leave the Square, the nest is destroyed

Overwatch

You wait patiently, for the perfect opportunity to strike

- You can hold both Actions on your Turn as Held Reactions, and you no longer need a specific trigger to activate one or both Actions at any time
- You still lose the Actions at the start of your next Turn and roll a Reaction Contest if applicable

Ability Score Improvement

- You can allocate 2 new points to your ability scores if the final score(s) is no more than 4
- Alternatively, you can spend both points to raise a single score by 1 to a final value of 5 or above

Primary Trait Tier 3

Master Target Vitals

Mastering the art of precision, you can ensure every bullet will hurt

- Regain all charges with Rest
- When using Target Vitals, you roll double damage dice instead of Advantage
- Additionally, if your attack uses an Aiming Action, roll double damage dice without consuming a charge of Target Vitals

Rapid Dispatch

They were all dead before the cases hit the ground

- Once per Rest, you may spend an Action to shoot a number of targets equal to the amount of attacks your gun can make (Base Attack + Extra Attacks) dealing your Base Attack damage to each
- If Target Vitals is applied with this feat, it must consume a use per chosen target, except for a single target you're using an Aiming Action on

Peek, I Dare You

Your sightlines spell death for anyone who dares challenge it

- You automatically succeed any Reaction rolls if it's for a Held Reaction or when using the Overwatch Trait

Perfect Shot

Only the perfect moment will give you the perfect shot and when you want to, you never miss

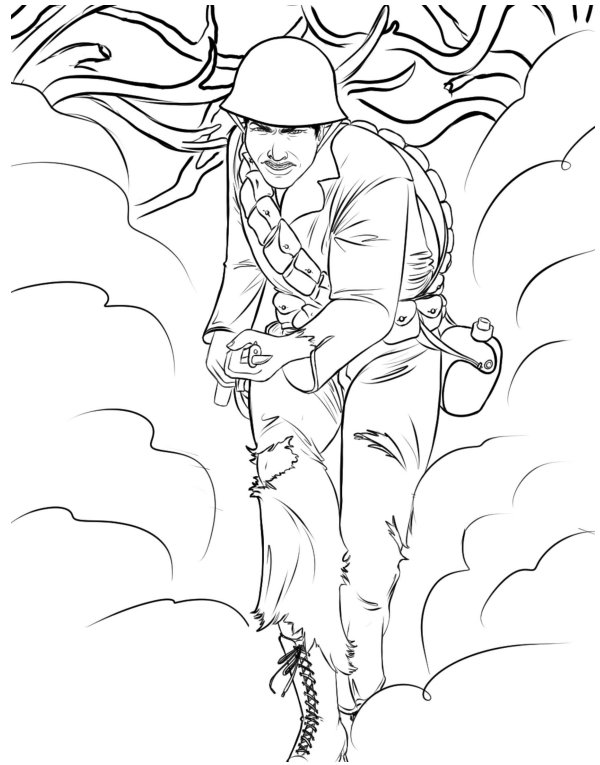

- When you roll To-Hit, after seeing the dice outcome but before rolling for damage, you can choose to hold the shot discarding the Action or perform an Aiming Action

Ability Score Improvement

- You can allocate 2 new points to your ability scores if the final score(s) is no more than 4
- Alternatively, you can spend both points to raise a single score by 1 to a final value of 5 or above

Assault

“Our position must have looked impregnable and suicidal to attack, but it hardly phased that bullheaded soldier. Where lesser men faltered, an unstoppable machine smashed straight through our line driven by sheer willpower. It would have been inspirational, had I not known that the Assault was coming for me.”

The Assault trooper is a highly trained and heavily equipped infantry soldier specializing in offensive operations. These soldiers are at the forefront of combat, leading charges and breaching enemy positions. They work closely with their unit to swiftly and decisively overwhelm their foes, securing objectives and gaining ground on the battlefield. Their role demands courage, physical fitness, and a deep understanding of combat tactics, making them an integral part of any military force engaged in offensive operations.

As an Assault, you can equip a wide array of tools, often including explosives, specialized kits, and a diverse assortment of weaponry. You also have flexibility in building your soldier, from a specialist grenadier to a proud leader.

Primary Trait Tier 1

Determination

Leading the charge as an Assault demands pushing yourself beyond your limits

- Maximum of 3 charges that can be activated instantly lasting for an Action, recharging 2 per Rest
- When using Determination, you can choose to add +3 to any of your Checks or To-Hit before making the roll, or increase your movement speed by +1 Space per Action

Press the Attack

The key to mounting an assault is momentum

- Once per Round, when an enemy is brought to 0 or less HP within Medium range and Line of Sight, you can use a charge of Determination for free on your next Turn or Reaction

Flexible Fighter

Different scenarios will call for different skill sets and you will always be prepared

- You can choose to shoot with Focus at Short range or shoot with Reflex at Medium range
- Short and Medium are still considered Reflex and Focus ranges respectively for all other Traits and rules.

Go Go Go!

Rallying your allies, you energize the soldiers around you

- Spend an Action to boost all allies, including yourself, within a Medium range until the end of your next Turn with the following effects:
 - Become immune to Suppression
 - +1 movement speed per Action

Ability Score Improvement

- You can allocate 2 new points to your ability scores if the final score(s) is no more than 4
- Alternatively, you can spend both points to raise a single score by 1 to a final value of 5 or above

Primary Trait Tier 2

Advanced Determination

Training as an Assault allows you to push yourself under a wider variety of circumstances

- Increase maximum to 5 charges, recharging 3 per Rest
- You can also choose to instead spend Determination to re-roll any roll after seeing if it succeeds or fails
- You can use more than one charge of Determination to gain multiple effects on a single Action

Inspiring Presence

You are a beacon of motivation for your comrades, filling them with confidence and willpower

- Allies within Medium range can add half of your Grit score to their Grit score rounded up with a minimum of 1
- With your permission, allies within Medium range can use a single charge of your Determination on their Action

Action Overdrive

Instead of pushing yourself to do one thing better, you push yourself to do more things faster

- Once per Turn, Spend a charge of Determination to perform one of the following “mini” Actions on your Turn:
 - Move 2 Spaces
 - Reload a weapon In-Hand
 - Draw a weapon or item from inventory to your In-Hand or Off-Hand
 - Perform a Shove melee attack
 - Use the Go Go Go! Ability if you have it

To The Teeth

You creatively pack your gear to handle the unpredictability of combat

- Any Item that is not a Gun or Melee weapon in your Off-Hand does not count toward your total Inventory

Ability Score Improvement

- You can allocate 2 new points to your ability scores if the final score(s) is no more than 4
- Alternatively, you can spend both points to raise a single score by 1 to a final value of 5 or above

Primary Trait Tier 3

Master Determination

You have mastered control over your determination, extending your bursts of will further than ever before

- Regain all charges with Rest
- Effects of Determination last until your next turn instead of a single Action

Action Hero

Exerting your will power to its furthest extent allows you to accomplish more than anyone else

- Once per Round, you can spend two charges of Determination to take another Action on your Turn
- Press the Attack can reduce this cost to one charge

Fighting Spirit

You will never give up or run out of resolve even in the most dire of times

- Once per Revitalization, as an Action you may Rest

Dominating Presence

The enemy will learn to fear you

- Entering the Line of Sight of an enemy will cause them to roll Grit Checks at Disadvantage until their next Rest

Ability Score Improvement

- You can allocate 2 new points to your ability scores if the final score(s) is no more than 4
- Alternatively, you can spend both points to raise a single score by 1 to a final value of 5 or above

Close Combat

“In our hubris, we built labyrinths of dirt and concrete thinking ourselves invincible. Now this fortress becomes our tomb. I can hear the gunshots, it draws nearer. When the time comes, I know I will not survive the Close Combat.”

The Close Combat specialist is a frontline soldier who excels in CQB. They thrive in the thick of battle, such as in urban combat, dense vegetation, and tight enclosures. A Close Combat will typically rely on their physical prowess, powerful weapons, and quick reflexes to overcome their foes.

As a Close Combat, you should expect to take damage and dish it back tenfold. Strap a shotgun, submachine gun, trench-club or any other weapon that will aid you in clearing rooms and taking names. Be warned, proximity is a double edged sword and if possible, pack either tough skin or decent body armor.

Primary Trait Tier 1

Reckless Abandon

To survive as a Close Combat you can unshackle yourself from your mortal fears and unlock your full potential

- Maximum of 3 charges that can be activated instantly and lasts until the end of your Turn, recharging 2 per Rest
- When using Reckless Abandon, until the start of your next Turn:
 - Take half damage from all attacks
 - Advantage on Suppression Checks
 - +1 Movement speed when taking the shortest path towards an enemy

Whites of Their Eyes

Spitting distance? Yeah, I can spit that far

- Extend your Point Blank range to 2 Squares for ranged weapons

Entry Man

Knock knock! Ready or not, here I come

- You roll with Advantage on Opposing Reaction rolls
- Spend a charge of Reckless Abandon to get Advantage on Power and Reflex Checks including To-Hit and Melee Attacks until the end of your Turn

Shock and Awe

Your sheer brutality creates a moment of pause for your foes

- If you deal 20 or more damage on your Turn to a target, all enemies within Line of Sight of the target have Disadvantage on all attacks and Grit Checks until the end of their next Turn

Ability Score Improvement

- You can allocate 2 new points to your ability scores if the final score(s) is no more than 4
- Alternatively, you can spend both points to raise a single score by 1 to a final value of 5 or above

Primary Trait Tier 2

Advanced Reckless Abandon

A deep burning courage inside you steadies your nerves beyond human limits

- Increase maximum to 5 charges, recharging 3 per Rest
- Gain the following effects during Reckless Abandon:
 - Immune to the effects of Suppression
 - Ignore all effects of negative health (including death) until Reckless Abandon ends

Push Your Luck

In the highly lethal arena of CQB, your luck can be just as important as your guts or strategy.

- Once per Rest, after taking damage that would drop your HP to zero or below, will instead drop your HP to 1
- Alternatively, once per rest, consume this Trait to reroll any die

Blind Fury

You lose control of your senses making you more vulnerable but also more powerful

- When entering Reckless Abandon, you can change it to Blind Fury
- In addition to the modifiers from Reckless Abandon
 - Enemies get +2 To-Hit against you
 - Melee damage is rolled at Advantage
 - You can shoot during a Movement Action if you Hip-Fire and take a -2 To-Hit movement penalty

Invigoration

There's a fire inside of you, and you will push through the pain

- If you've taken more than 5 damage since your last Turn, you can spend an Action or a charge of Reckless Abandon to heal 5 HP, not consuming Restorable HP

Ability Score Improvement

- You can allocate 2 new points to your ability scores if the final score(s) is no more than 4
- Alternatively, you can spend both points to raise a single score by 1 to a final value of 5 or above

Primary Trait Tier 3

Master Reckless Abandon

Your master of the art of Close Combat gives you unparalleled control of yourself and the battlefield

- Regain all charges with Rest
- Replace +1 movement toward enemy with +1 movement speed in any direction
- Effects of Reckless Abandon last until the End of your next Turn

Hardened Breacher

You are an expert at handling your firearm in CQB

- Weapons In-Hand have their To-Hit bonuses treated as if the Heft score was reduced by 1 to a minimum of 0 (see Heft Score for range bonuses)
- You have Advantage on non-Attacking Reflex Checks

Instant Reflexes

With a burst of energy can swing your weapon with lethal speed

- If you succeed a Reaction Contest, you can make a single instant free Attack Action against any opponent that lost the Contest

Death Defier

In desperate times, you call upon the last of your strength to push beyond your limits

- Except for the bleed effect, do not take the negative effects of being Downed at below 0 HP
- If you are Knocked out at -11 HP or below, take full effects

Ability Score Improvement

- You can allocate 2 new points to your ability scores if the final score(s) is no more than 4
- Alternatively, you can spend both points to raise a single score by 1 to a final value of 5 or above

Gunner

“Our patrol stumbled right into the kill zone. I felt the air pop and snap, while I saw the sand around me dance like puddles in the rain. While I knew our best shot was to retreat, fear anchored me to the ground. The truth was, once we were in the Gunner’s sights, we were all goners.”

The Gunner plays a crucial role on the battlefield, engaging and neutralizing enemy forces through overwhelming, suppressive fire. Their skill, discipline, and ability to maintain pressure on the enemy are pivotal in shaping the outcome of battles and securing the safety of their comrades.

As a Gunner, you will be running heavy and methodically. To apply consistent suppression and lethality, you’ll most likely gravitate towards powerful weapons like machine guns. While your firepower may make you the centerpiece of a squad, you must also remember your purpose is to apply pressure so your teammates can effectively maneuver themselves to defeat the enemy.

Primary Trait Tier 1

Hailstorm

As a Gunner, you can keep the enemy pinned even with tighter bursts of fire

- Maximum of 3 charges that can be activated instantly and lasts until the end of your Turn, recharging 2 per Rest
- When using Hailstorm, you can shoot with an additional Extra Attack
 - Weapons with an instant reload can get an Extra Attack
- Anyone you shoot during Hailstorm must make a DC 10 Suppression Check unless you incur a higher DC against them that Turn

Spray and Pray

Get some!

- Spending both Actions on your Turn shooting with Hip-Fire allows you to use Hailstorm without consuming a charge
 - You can still use this Trait even if you have no charges of Hailstorm remaining

Walking Turret

You should not be able to carry all of that...

- You ignore the Lugging penalty when making an attack

Omni-Suppression

Even without an automatic weapon, you can keep the heads down

- You can now suppress with Single Shot attacks, Shrapnel, or Shock damage
- Single Shot Suppression DC after two consecutive shooting Actions
 - Starts at base DC of 10
 - Every Extra Attack adds +1 Suppression DC
- Shrapnel or Shock Suppression DC
 - After making an Attack with Shock or Shrapnel damage, everyone who was hit must make a DC 10 Suppression Check even if undamaged by the attack

Ability Score Improvement

- You can allocate 2 new points to your ability scores if the final score(s) is no more than 4
- Alternatively, you can spend both points to raise a single score by 1 to a final value of 5 or above

Primary Trait Tier 2

Advanced Hailstorm

You spit more hot lead down range and can more effectively pin your targets

- Increase maximum to 5 charges, recharging 3 per Rest
- When using Hailstorm, add +2 to your Suppression DC

Gunner Nest

You brace yourself in the perfect position to cover yourself and deliver lethal fire

- When deploying a bipod/tripod or by using an Action, set up a Gunner's Nest in your current Space
- While in a Gunner Nest:
 - Base Auto Attack Damage is increased by 1 die (i.e. 2dX becomes 3dX)
 - Base Single Shot Damage is rolled at Advantage
 - Your nest offers you concealment in addition to any existing cover
- When you leave the Space, the nest is destroyed

Collateral Damage

You blast a large area in front of you with complete and utter disregard

- After you hit a target, you can choose to spend a charge of Hailstorm to also automatically deal your Extra Attack damage to everything within Point Blank of the target if your To-Hit would hit them as well

Braced Stance

Planting your feet in the ground, you steady your grip preparing to unleash hell on your enemies

- You can shoot a weapon that has a Heft of 5 or less as if it was on a deployed bipod when in the Standing Stance

Ability Score Improvement

- You can allocate 2 new points to your ability scores if the final score(s) is no more than 4
- Alternatively, you can spend both points to raise a single score by 1 to a final value of 5 or above

Primary Trait Tier 3

Master Hailstorm

You have mastered the art of suppression and have become a true battlefield oppressor

- Regain all charges with Rest
- Suppression DC bonus of +2 is applied at all times
- When using Hailstorm, you can shoot with two additional Extra Attacks

Barrage

You bring the hammer down on not just a target, but the area around them too

- Every time you incur a Suppression Check, everyone within Point Blank range of the target must make the Check as well

Turbo Load

Get in ma' gun!

- Spend a charge of Hailstorm to perform a Reload Action instantly with any weapon, even if ammunition is in your Inventory

Sweeping Fire

You get some bullets, and you get some bullets, and you get some bullets

- Instead of shooting Base Attack + Extra Attacks at a single target, you can shoot a number of additional targetable enemies equal to your gun's Extra Attacks. Roll To-Hit for each target and roll Base Attack damage for each target hit

Ability Score Improvement

- You can allocate 2 new points to your ability scores if the final score(s) is no more than 4
- Alternatively, you can spend both points to raise a single score by 1 to a final value of 5 or above
