
Core Field Manual

Part 10 General Traits

Combat Traits

Accurate Shot

Breathe - Relax - Aim - Steady - Shoot

- Using an Aiming Action gives you +3 To-Hit instead of +1
- You can stack +3 To-Hit with consecutive Aim Actions, however you must abide by your maximum Aim bonus (+3 by default)

Point Shooting

You've trained to shoot your gun at the waist, allowing for faster reaction times

- Reduce Hip-Fire penalty by 1 (min of 0)
- +2 to Reaction & Opposing Reaction rolls when using a gun with a Heft Score of 3 or less

Swift Cycling

You are particularly adept at actioning your gun, firing shots in rapid succession

- When firing a Bolt-Action, Lever Action, Pump Action, or Single Action Revolver, you can fire an additional Single Shot Extra Attack with a -1 To-Hit

Gun Sighting

You dial in your gun to hit a specific range and are particularly adept at shooting at that specific distance

- Pick a Focus range category (Except "Every +40 Spaces")
- +1 To-Hit at the chosen range and a -1 To-Hit at the preceding range
- You can change this range category with a Rest

Center Mass

Go for the meat shot, it's bound to hurt

- When using an Aiming Action, you deal full damage when you would otherwise deal half damage

Deliberate Strike

This time, you'll make sure they bleed

- Once per Rest, you can choose to reroll a weapon's damage and can choose either roll's result

Intuitive Shooting

You've built the instinct to shoot without sights

- When you choose to shoot with the Hip-Fire penalty, you can ignore the modifiers of a scope or other sight
- Reduce Hip-Fire penalty by 1 (min of 0)

Dual Wielder

The more the merrier

- Attack with two weapons in one Action, taking a -3 To-Hit but not Disadvantage as described in the Dual Wielding rules
- When In-Hand, you can treat any gun with a Heft of 1 or less as a One-Handed weapon, even if it is not a Pistol or Revolver weapon type

Lucky Crit

When you hit your mark, you kill

- If you roll a natural 20 on a Base Attack when trying To-Hit, your Base Attack deals maximum Damage if the hit succeeds

Revolver Fanning

You hold the trigger and rapidly strike the hammer with your other hand, rapidly unloading the entire cylinder

- This Trait works with single-action revolvers and while not dual wielding
 - At GM discretion, can allow double action revolvers
- Fire your revolver as if it were an Automatic weapon, consuming 3 bullets per Base Attack (2dX) or Extra Attack (1dX), X being half the Single Shot die
- Extra Attack Penalty is a flat -3 To-Hit
- You can choose to take the Hip-Fire penalty to incur an immediate Suppression roll DC 12 on a target with a single Action of shooting

Single Trigger Tap

With a quick finger tap, you limit your automatic fire

- When using this feat, you can not use Extra Attacks
- You can choose to fire an Automatic gun with an equivalent Single Shot damage (i.e. 2d5 → 1d10) The attack counts as a Single Shot attack
- You can alternatively choose to fire an Auto Attack with normal Auto Damage using 3 bullets instead of 5

Retention Position

You shoot with your gun right by your side, ideal when in a scrap

- +1 To-Hit at Point Blank when using a gun with a Heft Score of 1 or less
- Reduce Hip-Fire penalty by 1 (min of 0)

Failure Drill

Two to the body, one to the head

- If you make a Single Shot Attack and use exactly 2 Extra Attacks, you may deal 1d4 damage instead of the normal +2 Extra Attack damage

Bombardier

Your explosions rattle the enemy to the bone

- After dealing Shock, Shrapnel, or Chemical damage, enemies within the area of effect will roll Grit Checks at Disadvantage until the end of your next Turn

Double Tap

Follow through and let off two shots within the same sight picture

- When you take an Aiming Action, you can use a single Extra Attack

Mobility Traits

Combat Roll

You're evasive and can roll out of harm's way before the enemy can bring their weapons to bare

- After losing a Reaction contest, you can choose to reroll, however your Reaction Action must be spent "rolling" up to 3 Spaces in any direction
- You can not combat roll while Prone and this Action is not considered a Movement Action

Ice Breaker

Let's get this party started

- +5 to Initiative rolls

Sprinter

In a full sprint, you can push yourself slightly further

- +1 extra Movement when both Actions on your Turn are used to move

Prowler

You can make yourself nearly undetectable

- You can Stealth while moving normally and gain Advantage on Stealth checks if Creeping

Spring in Your Step

Lunging forward, you push slightly forward when dropping prone or getting up

- When changing in or out of the Prone stance, you gain 1 Space of Movement to use in the same Action (movement can occur before or after stance change)

Heavy Hauler

You run heavy and know how to throw your weight around

- Ignore the effects of being Encumbered

Mobile Gunnery

With some manipulation, you can shuffle a gun emplacement forward

- You can move a deployed Tripod at a Creeping speed of 3 Spaces per Action without needing to pick it up or pack

Slide Into Cover

With only a little more distance to cover, you slide behind cover

- If you didn't start your Action behind cover, you can add +1 Movement if your Movement Action ends behind Cover or Concealment

Defensive Traits

Pain Tolerant

Maybe you're brave, maybe you're stupid. Either way, you can take a beating and get back up

- Raise your Restorable HP by 5

Grenade Reflexes

You're quick to notice and react to grenades, giving you more options

- You get new ways to respond to grenades if they land at Point Blank range
 - Knock Away (DC 10): You kick the grenade 3 Spaces away from you
 - Return to sender (DC 20): You can pick up and throw the grenade without consuming an Action (see Throwing & Grenades)

Survival Instinct

In a sticky situation, your survival instincts kick in to keep you alive

- You have Advantage on Survival Reactions
- When you fall under half HP (rounded up)
 - Gain +1 Movement
 - Gain Advantage on Suppression Checks

Reflex Shot

In the heat of the moment, you let loose reactionary fire, throwing your opponent off

- Once per Rest, if you enter a Reaction contest and have a gun In-Hand, instead of rolling the contest, you can choose to spend your next Action or Reaction Action to immediately shoot at the opponent with the Hip-Fire penalty
- Regardless if the attack hits, your target loses their Action or Reaction Action

Last Second Dodge

You react right at the last moment and slam your body out of harm's way

- Once per Rest, without requiring a roll, if you can see an attack coming and are not already in the Prone stance, you can drop to the Prone stance. The enemy's attack then misses (including extra attacks)

Tank

You are one tough cookie

- Raise your maximum HP by 3

And I Took That Personally

Every bullet, bomb, and dagger brought against you is an insult which you will not take lightly

- Get Advantage To-Hit against the last enemy who has dealt damage to you
- This effect only lasts until the end of your next Turn and only applies to one enemy at a time
- After attacking, the effect cannot be applied to that same enemy until after a Rest

Adrenaline

Acting with speed and instinct can be the difference between life and death

- Once per Rest, after making a Survival Reaction, only one Action from your next Turn is spent

Self-Aid

Never let someone else do a job you can do yourself

- When using a First Aid Kit on yourself, it only requires one Action, instead of two

Powder Monkey

Through previous experiences with close calls and missing fingers, you've learned how to minimize the risk of handling explosives

- Shrapnel and Shock damage is halved for allies when taking damage from you and for yourself when taking damage from allies or yourself

Utility Traits

Eagle Eye

You notice the stuff others may miss

- You gain Advantage on non-Attacking Focus Checks

Hoarder

You can pack a little more than others before the weight gets to you

- Increase Encumbered threshold to 22 EqS

Distance Thrower

Hurling for distance is something you are particularly adept with

- The Power roll required to throw a distance category higher is now DC 10 (instead of 15)

Throwing Experience

Tossing objects with superb technique and form is one of your specialties

- You gain Advantage on Focus Checks for throwing
- You can choose to move 1 Square before your throw on the same Action

Double Tosser

You prefer chaos and who can say no to double the fun

- You can throw two items in a single Action
- This can be your only throwing Action of the Turn

Quick Toss

In a flash, the object leaves your hand — no wind-up, no hesitation

- Once per Turn, you can throw one Light object without using an Action
 - Your throwing distance is limited to 2 Spaces
 - You cannot make a Power Check to throw any further nor make a Movement Action during the same turn you use this Trait

Field Strip

Trained in the intricacies of firearms, you can take them apart or put them together even in the heat of combat

- You can disassemble or reassemble any In-Hand gun in a Turn
- When disassembled, the gun reduces to half its Equipment Slots rounded up to the nearest 0.5 EqS
- A disassembled gun cannot shoot but can still be used as a melee weapon

Trained Ear

Upon hearing gunshots, you can immediately infer some information

- If there is audible gunfire within Extreme range of you
 - Get an idea of the shooter's range from you
 - Identify the weapon type of the gunshots
 - Identify the Cardinal Direction of the shot
 - This does not consume an Action or require a roll

Slip in Loading

In the brief moment after emptying your magazine, you sneak a reload

- When Hip-Firing, you can make an instant Reload Action with ammo in your Off-Hand allowing you to fire unused Extra-Attacks in the same Action
 - Not compatible with Belt, Drum, Extended, or Pan Magazines

Lock & Load

Don't push it or I'll give you a war you won't believe

- You can carry a single Belt, Pan, Drum, or similar Magazine that is larger than 0.5 Equipment Slot in your Off-Hand

Super Human Carry

When it's time to haul some serious gear

- Once per Rest, for a Turn, double your Lugging Weight capacity and ignore all inventory carry penalties

Snide Jeering

You mock and taunt your opponents, throwing them off their game

- If an enemy is within Far Range, you can spend an Action to roll a Grit Contest. If they beat your roll, nothing happens. If you beat theirs, on their next turn they gain:
 - +1 movement speed when taking the shortest path towards you
 - Disadvantage on any Action besides a Strike or Grapple
- The range can be adjusted by GM

Quick Draw

With a flick of the wrist, you're ready to tango

- You can store one weapon with a Heft Score of 5 or below in your Off-Hand, regardless of restrictions
- If you attempt to draw or shoot a Pistol or Revolver that was stored in your Off-Hand as the result of a Reaction, gain Advantage on the Reaction check

Grenade Cooking

You can time grenade throws to potentially explode on contact, meaning enemies can't react

- Cooking the grenade occurs on the same Action as the throwing
 - Roll a 1d6 as many times as you wish, adding the new roll values to the previous total rolls to cook the grenade
 - 1-9: The grenade is undercooked and will follow normal grenade rules
 - 10-13: The grenade is timed perfectly and the enemy cannot react
 - 14: The grenade is overcooked, and will explode mid-air doing no damage
 - 15 or more: The grenade explodes directly on you

Ambidextrous

With both hands capable, you can ready two firearms at once

- During a stationary Reload Action, you can reload two separate weapons at once, including Weapons in your Off-Hand
- You cannot use any other Traits on this Reload Action

Rapid Reload

You've built the muscle memory to quickly load your weapon

- During a stationary Reload Action, you can reload up to double the Bullets per Action for guns that allow single bullet loading
- You cannot use any other Traits on this Reload Action

Tactical Junkie

This can't be healthy

- Depressant and Stimulant items can be used multiple times per Rest
- Every use beyond the first time lowers your maximum HP by 2 and reduces a random ability score by 1
 - Roll 1d4 where 1 is Power, 2 is Reflex, 3 is Focus, and 4 is Grit
- These effects are recovered during a Rest

Melee Traits

Focused Strike

Instead of brute strength, you use concentrated blows to strike your enemy

- You can choose to replace your Strike attack and non-multiplicative damage rolls with Focus instead of Power
- When Striking with Focus, your target rolls Armor Coverage with a -3 against your attack

Nimble Strike

Instead of brute strength, you use agility to overwhelm your opponent

- You can choose to replace your Strike attack and non-multiplicative damage rolls with Reflex instead of Power
- When Striking with Reflex, you can move your target similar to a Shove Attack even if your attack was dodged or parried

Bayonet Charge

Storming forward, you strike at enemies with unexpected speed

- When wielding a Melee weapon, you can make a Strike Attack instantly after two consecutive Movement Actions on the same turn

Cheap Shot

When in a Grapple or initiating a Grapple, you can choose to perform a cheap shot by hitting the crotch or crushing joints

- If successful in Overpowering, you can deal Grapple damage and perform another Grapple effect
- This only works once on an enemy

Swipe

Was that yours? You weren't using it.

- Make a special Melee Strike if you have a free hand
 - The Strike deals no damage, and instead lets you steal an item from the enemy's Off-Hand or Inventory
- With Rigging Kit, make a Grapple Attack at up to Close range, "lassoing" the target
 - You cannot deal damage and must roll with Reflex instead of Power

Versatile Defenses

You know how to shift your body in a melee fight to have attacks avoid your vitals

- When you are the defender in melee combat (Strike or Grapple), you may roll 1d20 + Power + Reflex against their attack

Drop Kick

Running forward, you jump up and slam your feet into an enemy throwing them backwards

- On your turn, if your first Action was a Movement Action, you can make a special Strike Attack on your second Action
- You gain an extra Space of Movement to perform a drop kick, as you launch yourself into your target's Space.
- On hit:
 - Deal 2d6 + Power Blunt damage
 - The Target is knocked into Prone and launched 1 square in the opposite direction
 - You become Prone
- On miss:
 - You become Prone

Gun Kata

Even locked in melee combat, you manage to fire your pistol at other enemies nearby

- Upon making a successful Grapple Overpower, you can shoot with the Hip-Fire penalty at another target with a Pistol or Revolver

Teamwork Traits

Encouragement

A supporting helping hand is vital in the heat of combat

- Once per Round during an ally's Turn, if they are within Short range, you can instantly give them Advantage on any Check or Attack they are attempting
- Your unmodified Grit Score is the number of times this ability can be used per Rest (minimum 1)

War Cry

You let out an impressive yell that bolsters your allies resolve

- Once per Rest, you can instantly let out a War Cry and until the start of your next Turn, you and your allies within a Medium range gain:
 - Immunity to Suppression
 - +1 movement speed when taking the shortest path towards an enemy

Tacticool Reload

When you see your friend is out of ammo, you chuck over a new one for a fast reload

- Once per Round, at any time, you can throw ammunition from your Off-Hand to instantly reload an ally following normal throwing rules for a Light object

Covering Fire

You spray bullets at the enemy to cover your allies movement

- If you use both Actions on a Turn to shoot with the Hip-Fire penalty, an ally within Line of Sight can make a free Movement Action immediately after your Turn

Kill Zone

Single out an area for effective fire

- Spend an Action to target a 5x5 area within Line of Sight
- You and any allies get +1 To-Hit when targeting an enemy at Focus range within the 5x5 area until the zone is retargeted or Line of Sight on the area is broken

Synced Tactics

You move in lockstep with your battle buddies, clearing rooms and taking names

- You may partner with anyone else in Point Blank range who has this Trait and one person who does not
 - For example, if 2 people have the Trait, you can make a squad of 4
- These allies may consume an Action to make a Movement Action with you (staying within Point Blank range of you)
- When rolling Reaction or Opposing Reaction, all partners may roll and the highest roll is used

Fireman Carry

When things hit the fan, you can grab your comrades with superhuman strength

- Carrying a person One-Handed puts you at Lugging Weight instead of restricting your movement to 2 Spaces per Action

Aerial Aid

You know how to pack your medical supplies in robust throwable baggies

- Using grenade rules, you can toss First Aid
- If it lands directly on the target, it immediately enters their Inventory or Off-Hand

Combat Lifesaver

Quick action to handle a wound is critical, and while it may not be full medical treatment, what you can do is just as valuable

- You can use a First Aid or Surgery Kit on an ally after two consecutive Movement Actions on the same Turn

Supply Stretcher

Well this can't be sanitary

- You can use First Aid twice before consuming it

Team Takedown

Clobber 'em boys!

- You can use this ability once per round
- Make a Melee Strike Attack on a target, if you hit:
 - Any ally within Point Blank range of the target can make a Strike Attack on the target, costing them no Actions
 - You can stack this Trait, as any teammates that get a free Strike Attack can use Team Takedown as well

Get Down!

With a dramatic leap, you attempt to land in front of an ally in danger

- When an ally within Close Range (and unobstructed) is shot at, once per Round you can choose to jump in and protect them even after damage is calculated
- Roll a Reflex Check and move into the same Square as your ally, blocking all damage
 - On a roll of 12 or more, take half of the damage your teammate would have taken, rounded up
 - On a roll of 11 or lower, take all of the damage your teammate would have taken
- You enter the Prone Stance at the end of this Action

Spotter Training

You can assist a friendly sniper in hitting their targets

- When an ally within Point Blank range makes an Aiming Action, you can add a 1d6 to the shooter's To-Hit
- This does not count towards their maximum Aim Bonus

Machine Gun Feeder

You are adept at being a part of a machine gun team, feeding it ammo and spotting targets

- If you're within Point Blank of an ally that is using a Belt fed machine gun, you can shoot the machine gun on your turn as if you were its gunner, using your To-Hit bonus
- This Trait cannot stack; only two people are allowed on a single gun

I've Got Your Back

When an ally is being shot at, you can return fire, disorienting the enemy and protecting your teammate

- When an ally is shot at but before the enemy's To-Hit roll is calculated, you can fire a single bullet at the attacker
- You roll To-Hit against their attacker
 - If you succeed, you deal no damage and the enemy misses their shot
 - If you fail, a use of this ability is not consumed but nothing occurs
- Your unmodified Focus Score is the number of times this ability can be used per Rest (minimum 1)

On Me!

With a signal, your buddies move up quickly to your position

- Spend an Action to signal to your buddies
- For their next turn, all allies gain +1 Movement per Action if they can end their turn within Close range of you

Overlapping Fire

Overwhelm the enemy and hit them from multiple angles

- If within the same Round you shoot an Auto Attack at a target that an ally also shot at with an Auto Attack and both of you did not already incur a Suppression Check, you now incur a Suppression Check as if both you and your ally shot within the same Turn
- Only one ally's attack can be picked to suppress with but multiple people with this Trait can pick the same ally's attack